Duplications In Street Markers A Little Confusing

No, you're not out on a binge. You're perfectly sober. Probably you're not even mentally off—just confused.

I'm speaking of some of the street markers around. For instance, out at Raymond and Capital, you're liable to find Poplar and Gum, and at Capital and Lincoln, it might be Main and Big Four. In fact, it's more than just a jumble; it has been a fact.

But fear not, ye muddled multitude, the powers that be know what is going on. The Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is putting in the markers, got a number of duplications painted and since they wanted to get these markers in the ground as quickly as possible, they sent out those that had already been painted and stenciled.

Now, the object is to paint over the wrong streets shown and stencil on the right letters.

So you see, nobody's gone screwy; it's been planned this way although it's a bit amusing—except possibly to the out-of-town motorist who is using them to try to find some certain spot in our city.

But all in all, it's been a good thing. Our town needs a little stirrin' up now and then.

FRED ARMISTEAD sent the following clipping back from California, where he is attending school.

Entitled "Happy Wedding Anniversary," it reads as follows:

"Readers could hardly believe their eyes.

"What they read resulted from a conversation between David and Virginia Rousseau, 821 Ann Ave., San Lorenzo.

"Prepared to celebrate their eighth wedding anniversary yesterday, the couple happened to notice the disclaimers of responsibility often printed in newspapers, stating bitterly: 'I am responsible for no debts or obligations contracted by my wife...'

"David and Virginia, reviewing eight years of married life, decided the years had been good.

"That's why David Rousseau took a classified advertisement in yesterday's Tribune. 'Not for publicity,' he explained. 'Just to show that there are some happy married couples in the world.'

"This is the advertisement: 'I AM RESPONSIBLE for all debts and obligations of my wife, Virginia, both present and future, and am more than happy to be the provider for a woman who has borne me five lovely daughters and with an overabundance of love and care made the past eight years of married life the nicest years of my life. On this, our eighth anniversary, I wish to publicly express my gratitude. David Rousseau.'

And take a gander at the flower show to be held tomorrow at the Masonic temple. If nobody's tossed any bouquets your way recently, just stop in and imagine they have.

President Signs St. Lawrence Seaway Measure

Authorizes U. S.
To Join Canada in Building Canals

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower in an historic move today signed the St. Lawrence Seaway Bill to end a two-decade battle to open the Great Lakes ports of the Midwest to Atlantic shipping.

The new law authorizes the United States to join Canada in building the canals and locks necessary to provide a continuous 27-foot navigation channel through the St. Lawrence river which links Lake Ontario with the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Forty-two senators and House members who had backed the measure were invited to witness the President sign the bill at a White House ceremony.

The ceremony took place in the President's office in the presence of senators, congressmen, and Canadian Ambassador A. D. P. Heene.

In recognition of the historic occasion Mr. Eisenhower used 10 pens to sign the bill. Nine of the pens were distributed to the congressional delegation. The 10th pen and pen-holder, fashioned from a charred remnant of the logs of charred Ft. Detroit, will be presented to the historical museum in Detroit.

Final passage of the seaway bill by Congress last week marked one of Mr. Eisenhower's biggest legislative triumphs since he took office 16 months ago. Seaway legislation has been recommended by every president since Warren G. Harding.

Completed by 1960
The project, envisioned for more than a century, is expected to be completed by 1960. It would open the way for ocean-going vessels to sail from the Atlantic to Duluth, Minn.

Backers of the seaway maintained it is essential to national defense. They said it would permit easier shipment of Labrador iron ore to Midwest steel plants to bolster dwindling U. S. reserves.

Opponents contended, however, it would needlessly duplicate railroads and other existing transportation facilities, and would be highly vulnerable to enemy air attack in case of war.

Two big hurdles remain to be cleared before the construction can start.

Canada and the United States must agree on details of construction, operation and joint control, including the setting of tolls. Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said last week Canada still stood ready to build the seaway alone if "undue delays" are caused by U. S. participation.

Talks Planned
Immediately after the President signed the bill, the State Department planned to send Canada a proposal that negotiations be arranged promptly.

Signing of the seaway bill automatically created a St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., a new federal agency empowered to borrow 105-million dollars from the Treasury to finance the U. S. share of the project. Under the plan Canada would spend about 200-million dollars.

AFL Council Seeks Plan to End Raiding by Unions

CHICAGO — The executive council of the American Federation of Labor called a special meeting here today to work out a plan to end raiding within AFL ranks.

The plan was ready to be submitted this afternoon for approval by representatives of most of the AFL's 110 affiliated unions.

AFL President George Meany, Secretary-Treasurer William F. Schnitzler and 13 AFL vice presidents were on hand for the meeting.

The problem of jurisdictional disputes inside the AFL last year touched off a temporary walkout by the Brotherhood of Carpenters. The carpenters said they disapproved a no-raiding agreement with the CIO without first settling membership disputes within the AFL.

Millspaugh Rites At Equality Friday

The body now lies in state at the family residence.

UN Demands Reds Account for 54 Missing Civilians

PANMUNJOM, Korea — The United Nations demanded today the Communists account for 54 missing Allied civilians who were last reported in North Korea.

At a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission, the U. N. delegation handed the Reds a list of 54 civilians from 12 countries. Most of them were missionaries, among them Roman Catholic Bishop Patrick J. Byrne, Washington, D. C., apostolic delegate to Korea when the war started.

Byrne and at least four others, including Walter S. Tringham, American engineer with the Economic Cooperation Administration, are dead, according to repatriated prisoners.

Their deaths have been attributed to the infamous North Korean officer known as "The Tiger" who led the "death march" of Allied civilian and military prisoners in the winter of 1950.

Moline Man is Held in Olmsted Bank Robbery

FBI Hints Other
Suspects May Be Arrested Soon

MOLINE, Ill. (CP)—A 31-year-old Negro, arrested here as a suspect in an Olmsted, Ill., bank robbery, was held today under $25,000 bond.

Joseph Ligon, 31, of Moline, was seized at his home by five FBI agents and Moline police. He offered no resistance.

He will be taken to East St. Louis for trial.

The FBI charged that Ligon was one of three Negroes who robbed the First State Bank of Olmsted of $16,778 on May 5.

FBI officers hinted other suspects may be arrested shortly.

Ligon denied participating in the robbery.

Richard Hosteny, special agent in charge of the FBI office at Springfield, said employees at the bank identified Ligon from pictures.

Ligon is married and has been living in the Quad City area for several years. He is a native of Southern Illinois, having been born near Olmsted. The FBI said he had been arrested several times previously.

More than $5,000 of the Olmsted bank money was found under a schoolhouse in Peoria County by children the day after the robbery. It was believed to be one robber's share.

County Sells Plot To State for Storage Site

Housing Authority
Seeks Strip for Parking of Autos

The Saline County Board of Supervisors this morning voted to sell a piece of the county farm property to the state of Illinois for a highways maintenance storage site.

Purchase price of two and a half acres, in the extreme southeast corner, bounded on two sides by the NYC tracks and the county farm concrete road, was set at $1,250.

A representative of the division of highways said that four such maintenance storage sites will be bought in southern Illinois, that a permanent building surrounded by fencing will be constructed here.

It also was brought out by Tom Maxwell (D, Eldorado) that the Saline County Housing Authority would like to have 30 feet additional space between the Dorrisville development and the county farm building so as to build a road for parking. This 30-foot strip is sought to stop the parking of cars on Barnett street, where they have proved a hazard because of small children darting into the street from between them.

It was decided that the request would be studied and a report be made at the next meeting.

New Board Member
There was a new board member at today's meeting. He is Claude Moore, Mountain township farmer named by the town board there to succeed the late Gwin Davis as supervisor. Moore was the town clerk of Mountain when named supervisor and he succeeded as clerk by William Garland Raymer, teacher at Colbert school.

In other action today, the board empowered William Alfred Smith to make an appointment to the Egyptian Health department that expires July 1, and he reappointed Hudson Mudge of Harrisburg.

In January Mudge was appointed by Smith to fill a vacancy created on the board when Ralph E. Davis left the county and it was this term that ends July 1.

Other action included:
Low bids for road work in Independence and Cottage townships for county road maintenance, presented by R. D. Brown, county superintendent of highways, were approved.

A financial report by Herman McFarlin, chairman of the board's financial committee, was accepted; Claims were allowed.

A part of the old McDonald subdivision near Dearing mine was vacated at the request of Atty. Don Scott, the ground returning to farm land.

The board voted that the finance committee should meet with the state's attorney to work out a rabies control program for Saline county and report back at the next meeting. The new law that requires all dogs not kept penned, leashed or muzzled goes into effect June 1.

Chairman Smith, before the meeting adjourned praised the late Gwin Davis, both as a board member and as a private citizen.

"He was a most conscientious and able member of our board," he said of Mr. Davis, who died about two weeks ago.

More than $5,000 of the Olmsted bank money was found under a schoolhouse in Peoria County by children the day after the robbery. It was believed to be one robber's share.

MC CARTHY-ARMY PROBE CONTINUES—As the Army-McCarthy inquiry spends the day trying to find a means of speeding up the hearings, the Democratic members of the subcommittee, listening to Senator Dirksen's resolution, take on the appearance of the three famous moralizing monkeys: Hear No Evil, Speak No Evil, See No Evil. Saturday is Straw Hat Day

Saturday, which is May 15 and the middle of the month, also is Straw Hat Day.

That means that on this day and thereafter until the frost nips it, you are legally entitled to wear a straw, which researchers have found to be much cooler in the summer time than a toboggan, fur cap or a plain felt hat.

To make the wearing of the straw hat official, Mayor Ralph Horning today proclaimed Saturday as Straw Hat Day.

And to keep it official, local haberdasheries (where hats and clothing are bought) have supplied themselves with fresh, up-to-date stock to take care of the male animal's noggin-need, come Saturday.

War Vet Asks Court Order to Practice Law

SPRINGFIELD — A 28-year-old war veteran's appeal for an Illinois Supreme Court order allowing him to practice law was under advisement today.

The court Wednesday heard the appeal by George Anastoplo, a University of Chicago research worker, from an Illinois Bar Assn. committee's refusal to admit him to the bar because he failed to prove his "character and fitness."

The former Carverville resident argued his own case before the high court. The committee had filed a written brief opposing his case, but no one appeared to argue orally against him.

Anastoplo contended the bar committee wanted to "penalize me for the expression of opinions which I rightfully hold."

He said his trouble started when he told the committee under questioning that he believed a Communist should be allowed to practice law "if otherwise qualified."

"They had no other evidence to disprove my fitness," he said.

Says Questions Illegal
Anastoplo contended he was asked questions about his political beliefs which were "illegitimate and unconstitutional" and that the bar association should "separate questions of overt actions from those of affiliation and association."

"I told them I would unequivocally take an oath to support the constitutions of Illinois and the United States," he said. "I have taken such oaths. I was an Air Force officer."

Anastoplo conceded he had argued the "right of revolution," which he called the right to overthrow the government if it becomes "despotic and tyrannical," but he said this view was "time honored."

He called his questioning by the bar committee an "inquisition" and said it would set a "dangerous precedent" if the refusal to allow him to practice law because of his views was allowed to stand.

The complaint, filed in circuit court by Atty. Charles E. Jones of McLeansboro, says a car driven by Lillian Irvin and a vehicle owned by Jones and driven by Renfro figured in the collision. Mrs. Martin was a passenger in the Irvin car.

Mrs. Martin seeks $10,000 for injuries and her daughter asks $8,000 for injuries and $900 for auto damages.

Intelligence Reveals Soviets Direct Red Strategy in Indochina

WASHINGTON — Intelligence reports reveal for the first time that swarms of Russian advisers now are helping guide Communist military strategy in embattled Indochina.

The Soviet "advisers" or "supervisors" work with Vietminh rebel officers down to the division level. They also are helping train Chinese Communist officers for the war.

These facts were disclosed Wednesday night in a long summary of "The New Colonialism in Asia: Sino-Soviet Penetration of Indochina." The document was "based on hard intelligence facts," official informants said, but the exact source was not revealed for security reasons.

"In the Viet Minh itself there are Soviet and Chinese—Communist 'advisers' and 'supervisors' in the military organization down at least to the division level," the report said. "Communist political control continues down to the company level in the military and is spread throughout the administrative hierarchy."

The report also listed these other signs of Soviet assistance for the Red rebel forces fighting in Indochina:

1. Training of Chinese Communist officers for the war.

2. Supplies and equipment from Russia and other satellites, including telecommunications devices, explosives, heavy caliber guns, trucks, gasoline, tires, machine tools, and other "military devices."

"A sidelight of Soviet support of Viet Minh is that its currency is printed in Czechoslovakia" which also has been supplying Skoda built automatic rifles, the report said.

The United States has publicly acknowledged that Red China's material aid and personnel were being thrown into the war on an increasing scale. This aid was given credit for bringing about the fall of the French fortress of Dien Bien Phu. Now it appears the Russians are doing the same.

After today's show, Mrs. Miles was scheduled to appear on a theater television show and on an audio video show Friday, (Lux Video Theater telecast and Friday's "House Party") and return to her home Saturday.

The sweepstakes drew 19 1/2 million entry blanks from throughout the nation. It was sponsored by Lever Brothers, makers of soaps and cleaning products.

Mrs. Miles lives in a five-room white frame house with her husband and a widowed daughter, Mrs. Lovidia Lawrence.

Eight other top prize winners in the sweepstakes included Mrs. Eleanor Miller of Cicero, Ill.; Mrs. John Swiss, Saginaw, Mich.; and Mrs. James Truitt of Omaha, Neb.

Bing Crosby's Son, Gary, to Take Over Father's Radio Show

STANFORD, Calif. — Bing Crosby's 21-year-old son, Gary, who will take over his father's radio show this summer, says he plans to "pretty much follow in the old man's footsteps."

"It'll be a lot like Dad's show," Gary said. "We'll have guest stars each week and lots of music."

The Stanford senior, who finishes college June 1, will take over the half-hour, coast-to-coast radio show June 6. Appearing on the first program with him will be his fraternity brother, Ted Devine, son of scratchy-voiced movie star Andy Devine.

Asked if he was going to match his father's relaxed radio manner, Gary laughed and said, "I sure hope so. It goes over every time."

His three younger brothers and Bing will also be on the program, from time to time.

"A real family affair," Gary said.

Find Body of Man Burned to Death While Tied to Tree

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. — The body of a man, burned to death while tied to a tree, was found in a ravine here Wednesday and police said today the bizarre death may have been a suicide.

The body was clad only in long underwear. Firemen put out a fire at the scene Wednesday, apparently the same fire in which the man died, but were unaware there was a body tied to the tree.

The man was identified tentatively as James Nelson, a transient, who had been employed in the kitchen of a hotel here for about a month.

Robert Kasmaussen, 9, and Deborah Holland, 7, discovered the body, while playing in the 60-foot ravine, located on an estate within the city limits. The boy ran to his father, who summoned police.

The victim's clothes were found in a pile at the edge of a nearby creek. A five-gallon can, partially filled with kerosene, was found with the clothes.

The body, parts of it badly charred, had been tied to the tree with a metal clothes line.

Police Chief Claude Miller said the knots had been tied at the sides of the body, raising the possibility the man had tied himself to the tree and then started the fire. He was trying to determine if the man had been murdered but was inclined toward the theory of suicide.

Du Quoin Voters Reject Street Bonds

DU QUOIN, Ill. — A proposed $375,000 bond issue for street improvements was rejected by a vote of nearly 3-to-1 at a special election here Tuesday.

The vote was 363 for and 924 against the bonds which would have financed resurfacing of 75 blocks of pavement.

The proposal called for paying off the bonds over a 20-year period from motor fuel tax receipts.

Army Begins Study Of Preserving Food By Atomic Radiation

WASHINGTON — The Army has launched a five-year program to develop a method of preserving foods with atomic radiation that, if successful, would revolutionize food packaging and processing.

The Army, in announcing the project Wednesday night, said it was "an example of the possibilities suggested by President Eisenhower for applying atomic energy to the peaceful pursuits of mankind."

It said if the process proves successful, it would cut refrigeration, increase the "storage life" of foods and lessen the "burdens" of food storage and transportation.

The Atomic Energy Commission will be an "active" participant in the program to be directed by the Army's Quartermaster Corps. The project is being undertaken "for the benefit of the armed services," the Army said, but the benefits presumably would be passed on to civilians as well.

The long-range objective is to learn whether foods may be preserved by irradiation as a substitute for present treatments by heat, chemicals, and other processing without detracting from the natural odor, color, flavor and texture of the foods," the Army said.

Meat Production Is Believed Second Largest in History

CHICAGO (UP) — The American Meat Institute says meat production this year may reach 25 billion pounds, largest supply in 10 years and the second largest in history.

It was believed the increase would make for lower prices since a sudden spurt in consumer demand was not expected.

The AMI said the anticipated

Democratic State Committee Meets To Elect Officers

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — The 25-member Democratic State Central Committee gathered today for its biennial meeting to elect officers and discuss strategy on the fall election campaign.

State Chairman James A. Ronan of Chicago was favored for reelection despite rumors of a possible attempt to name either Alvin G. Fields of East St. Louis or Fred A. Cain of Jacksonville.

A reported attempt by the faction allied with former Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett to name Fields or Cain was believed to have fizzled out.

Ronan is one of the committeemen who supported former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson in 1952 in nominating Stevenson's choice for governor over the candidacy of Barrett.

Other business before the committee today was the selection of a state party convention date and discussion of possible resolutions on election issues. The convention probably will be held here sometime during the week of June 20-26.

Asks Probe of Speculation in Farm Commodities

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today asked Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson to make an immediate investigation into "dishonest speculation" in farm commodities.

"Dishonest speculation has cost the farmers of this nation millions of dollars," McCarthy said, and should be "corrected."

In a letter to Benson, McCarthy said he has received repeated complaints from farm organizations and farmers about the delivery of warehouse receipts on the Chicago Board of Trade.

"Many times," McCarthy said, "there have been warehouse receipts delivered on the Chicago Board of Trade that do not truly represent the commodity. Many times the commodity against which these receipts are issued is not there; or the farm commodity in the warehouse grades far below the standard which is required for delivery."

"This creates a completely false impression of a surplus and materially depresses the farm prices. This results in a heavy loss to the farmer and also to the government under its purchasing program," he said.

ENGAGED. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Chester, Harrisburg, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Shirley, to Fred Seggebruch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Seggebruch, Crete. Miss Chester is now residing with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Disney, Harvey, where she is employed. A late September wedding is being planned.

Following the opening of gifts refreshments of cake, ice cream and Kool-Aid were served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cozart, Mrs. Jennie D. Luckett, Mr. and Mrs. Spiller Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Motesinger, Mr. and Mrs. Wayman Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Hilliard, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Parks and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Finis Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gibbons, Lizzie Asbell, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Flora, Mrs. Hester Fleming, Mrs. Lillian Fleming, Mrs. Arthur Hayes, Mrs. Lillian Kilburn, Mrs. Charles Rauh and Sherry, Mr. and Mrs. Cletus E. Ewell, Mrs. Frank Ramsey, Mrs. Eugene Weatherly, Mrs. Delana Bourland, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Turner.

Wife of Chairman Mundt Reveals Phone Threats

WASHINGTON (CP)—Mrs. Karl E. Mundt said today she and her husband have been receiving telephoned threats and abuse day and night since the Army-McCarthy hearings started.

"I must admit," she said, "that I am frightened occasionally by them—especially the ones that come late at night when I am home alone."

Senator Mundt (R-S.D.) is acting chairman of the Senate investigating subcommittee for the duration of the hearings.

Mrs. Mundt told of the threats in a recorded radio interview. The interviewer, Hazel Markel, recalled that Mundt was acting chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee during the Alger Hiss hearing in 1948.

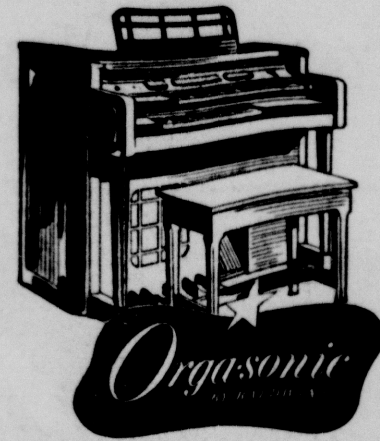

"I have noticed," Mrs. Mundt said, "that we receive the same type of abuse and threats now that we did at that time."

She said the telephoned threats have been coming in at their home "at all hours of the night as well as day." They have two telephones, she said, and sometimes she has to answer "both at once."

Jobs Scarcer For 1954 High School Grads

By KENNETH O. GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Members of America's high school class of '54 will not have it so easy this June when they go out to seek fame and fortune. But Uncle Sam is doing everything he can to help them out.

The U. S. Employment Service has prepared a comprehensive booklet on job opportunities for graduating teenagers entitled "Job Guide for Young Workers." It is now being distributed to 27,000 high schools throughout the country and national and youth guidance organizations.

When caps and gowns have been put away, roughly 50 per cent of June's million and a half high school grads will be looking for jobs. Their task is going to be harder than any year since before World War II. Such is the cautious opinion of experts in the Labor Department, who are quick to add that the employment outlook will still be generally good.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell says, "While last year's graduate was eagerly sought after by a 'hungry' labor market, lively with competition for all types of workers, this year's graduate will more than likely have to compete with his classmates in seeking a job."

Thus the job guide should prove extremely useful to many a lad and lass who start pounding the pavement. From bellhops to bricklayers, it surveys prospects in 74 representative occupations. The booklet further explains necessary qualifications for specific jobs, usual duties, chances for advancement and how and where the job is to be found.

The more promising opportunities in 1954 will be in selling and clerical work, according to the guide. This takes in such positions as cashier, billing clerk, salesperson, typist, receptionist, stenographer, telephone operator and teller.

But beginners are going to have a tough time moving into jobs as seamen, truck drivers, radio repairmen, photographer helpers and art workers.

Hardy young men who want to tackle outdoor work should be able to locate themselves in construction as helpers to carpenters, electricians and other skilled workers in the trade. Those who have fiddled with a hotrod and have some mechanical aptitude and training can get positions as helpers to auto mechanics and body repairmen.

Drug stores in most every community across the nation need soda jerks and countermen. Many of these type service jobs are available for beginners if they want to be nurses aides, parking lot attendants, ushers or cook helpers, to mention a few.

In the production field opportunities will depend on general business and industry conditions in which jobs are found. Women, however, will do better in the light industries like communications equipment, small machinery, ball bearing and instruments. More jobs are to be had for men in heavy industries such as automobiles and farm equipment.

The guide also advises young job seekers how to handle themselves in interviews. It urges them to use school placement offices, follow help wanted ads and register at state employment offices.

Truman Calls For Tax Cut and More Spending

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 12.—Former President Truman called today for a drastic cut in taxes and a three-billion-dollar boost in federal spending to pull the nation out of what he said was a "cruel recession" created by Republicans.

He charged that the administration's "trickle-down" economic policies have doubled unemployment and chopped 20 billion dollars from the country's total output.

"I say to you that this economic recession has already been too big," he declared. "It has already lasted too long. It has already inflicted too many cruel hardships upon too many people. And now it is time to do something about it."

The former chief executive delivered the slashing attack in a major speech before the 40th convention of the amalgamated clothing workers union here.

It was a sequel to his foreign policy address in Washington earlier this week and part of the Democratic warmup for the coming election campaign.

Mr. Truman raked the administration for showing "bad judgment" in slashing defense funds, putting a balanced budget ahead of the needs of the nation, and tightening money supplies until bankers began "to squeal."

"The administration is not telling us how to rub out this 20 billion dollar national economic deficit," he charged. "It is not telling us how to eliminate excessive unemployment. Instead, it seems to be merely hoping and praying that things will not get still worse."

The way out, he suggested, is to "elect a new kind of Congress" in November and he hinted, a Democratic president in 1956.

Three U. S. presidents died on July 4—John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and James Madison.

Senators Jenner, McCarran Propose Break in Relations with Russia

By United Press

Two senators proposed today that the United States end diplomatic relations with Russia and lead the way in expelling "the tyrants of Moscow" from the family of nations.

The proposal was made in a Senate resolution offered by Sens. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) and Pat McCarran (D-Nev.). The two senators also proposed severing diplomatic exchange with all Soviet satellites.

"The conscience of the world demands that this nation, as the last great bastion of freedom, take the lead in expelling from the family of nations the tyrants of Moscow," the two senators said in a statement.

The resolution would state that the "sense of the Senate" is that the United States should not continue diplomatic relations with the band of Kremlin international outlaws.

Meanwhile, House Democrats and Republicans argued about whether Democratic or Republican administrations kept Congress better informed on what's going on in the world.

Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), former speaker, said the Democrats are ready to support a sound foreign policy but they've "got to know what that policy is."

House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) retorted that Rayburn's remarks smacked of "politics." Rayburn rejoined that Halleck, himself, was "getting into politics."

Other late developments:
Schools: William G. Carr, executive secretary of the national education association said it would be

Boy is Uninjured When Buried Under Pile Of Coal from Hopper

DECATUR, Ill., May 12.—Jimmy O'Laughlin, 13, today was reported none the worse for having been buried in a pile of coal under a railroad car hopper Wednesday evening.

The boy, playing with companions, tumbled into the car and out the hopper opening, starting a flow of coal which poured over him. Elmer Watson, a coal company employee, risked his life to shove a cardboard flap in the hopper opening and stop the flow of coal.

Then rescuers worked for 55 minutes to free the boy, who was found with only a hand emerging from the pile of coal under the car.

Blast by Dynamite Cap Damages Mine Tipple Near Terre Haute

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 12.—Authorities sought the cause today of a dynamite cap explosion which damaged the tipple of the idle Springhill coal mine near here.

Officials said the blast Wednesday night shook southern Terre Haute. Damage to the tipple was estimated at $3,000. Nobody was hurt and a fire which followed the blast was quickly brought under control.

a "grave error" to put off aid for school construction now. President Eisenhower has proposed a deferment until a series of educational conferences are ended. But Carr said "the facts of school building needs are abundantly clear" after a three-year national survey.

Tobacco: A Senate-passed bill to raise by 25 per cent the penalty tax levied against farmers who sell tobacco in excess of their marketing quotas was approved by a House Agriculture subcommittee.

Sen. Clyde Hoey, 76, Dies in Sleep In Senate Office

WASHINGTON (CP)—A sudden capital today paid tribute to the courteous old man in the swallow-tailed coat. Sen. Clyde R. Hoey, whose sudden death removed one of the Senate's most colorful and beloved figures.

The white-haired veteran of 50 years in politics died in his sleep in his Senate office Wednesday. He was 76. Funeral services will be held Saturday in the Central Methodist Church, in Hoey's birthplace and hometown, Shelby, N. C.

President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, government officials and Senate colleagues joined in paying homage to the North Carolina Democrat who rose from a printer's devil in a mountain newspaper shop to important party and Senate posts.

President Eisenhower praised Hoey's "long and distinguished record of public service to his state and nation." He and Mrs. Eisenhower also sent a message of sympathy to Hoey's family in Shelby.

Nixon lauded Hoey's direction of the Senate Permanent Investigating Subcommittee now headed by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis). Nixon had served on the subcommittee when Hoey was its chairman.

Hoey's cutaway coats, his flowing white hair, and the ever-present red flower in his lapel became his hallmark and the delight of tourists who wanted to see a Senator who looked like one.

He was the last of the picturesque old-time school that colleagues agree will probably not be seen again in Capitol Hill.

Hoey's death left the Senate division at 47 Democrats, 47 Republicans and Independent Sen. Wayne L. Morse (Ore). However, a Democrat was considered certain to replace him.

Sen. Maybank Proposes Increase In Defense Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert R. Maybank (D-SC) today proposed a 10 per cent increase in the defense budget, including restoration of two Army divisions, in view of the deteriorating situation in Indochina.

Assistant Defense Secretary John A. Hannah said in an interview however, that the administration has no present intention of increasing its "new look" defense budget.

But he did not rule out the possibility that future commitments in Southeast Asia might make it necessary to change the administration's decision to eliminate three Army divisions in the coming fiscal year.

Other defense sources reported that the "present outlook" is that instead of increasing spending, the military will actually spend less than the $37,500,000,000 originally estimated for the coming fiscal year.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson was reported reliably as talking in terms of "more economy rather than more money."

Illinois Dental Society Names Dr. Starshak Its President-Elect

SPRINGFIELD (CP)—The Illinois State Dental Society Wednesday night named Dr. Thomas C. Starshak, Chicago, as its president-elect.

Starshak now is society treasurer. Dr. John J. Donelan Jr., Springfield, was chosen vice president-elect.

The society's 90th annual convention adopted a resolution saying it "unilaterally opposed" a bill before Congress to ban the fluoridation of water by governmental bodies.

The resolution said fluoridation, a move aimed at cutting tooth decay, was "absolutely safe" and has had no harmful effects.

Piping hot griddle cakes made with

MILNOT

2 cups all-purpose flour 2 eggs
1/4 tsp. salt 2 cups diluted Milnot
4 tsp. baking powder (1 cup Milnot, 1 cup water)
2 tbsp. sugar 1/2 cup melted fat

Sift dry ingredients together into a mixing bowl. Beat eggs, add diluted Milnot and melted fat. Pour this on dry ingredients and stir only until thoroughly mixed. Bake on hot griddle until golden brown on under side and top is covered with bubbles, then turn and bake on other side. To eliminate smoke, do not grease griddle. To test griddle for the right temperature, use cold water test. If a drop of water forms little balls and dances on griddle, temperature is correct for baking. Makes 2 dozen small cakes.

And so thrifty! Milnot costs less than a can of milk! Use Milnot for all cooking purposes, as you would use milk, cream, or a can of milk!

Soviets Refuse Permit for British Military Attache

MOSCOW (U)—The Soviet government refused today to permit Britain's assistant military attache to return to Moscow.

The action follows Britain's ouster of two Russian embassy attaches in London on espionage charges.

The Soviet Foreign Office informed the British embassy that Maj. Charles R. P. Landon will not be permitted to re-enter Russia following a visit to Britain.

In London the British Foreign

Office said Charge D'Affaires Paul Grey was summoned to the Soviet Foreign Ministry and informed Landon was no longer acceptable. The Foreign Office said Grey was told Landon had been found engaging in espionage against Russia.

"There is of course no truth in this charge," the official British spokesman in London said.

Last week Britain declared two Soviet assistant air attaches in London, Maj. Ivan Pupyshov and Andrei Gudkov, persona non grata (unwelcome in Britain) on grounds they attempted to spy on British secret jet aircraft production. The two Russians are scheduled to sail for home Friday.

Rookie Wally Moon Paces Cardinals' 13-5 Victory With Homer, Four Singles

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

The calendar insists there won't be a full moon until next Monday but the Cardinal rookie of the same name was shining in all his glory today—right in broad daylight.

Young Wally Moon, the 24-year-old lefty swinger with a master's degree in education from Texas A & M College who ousted Enos Slaughter out of a 16-year job with the Cardinals, had a day Wednesday that all hitters dream of but seldom achieve. He started with a 380-foot homer in the first inning, then added four more singles to boost his average to a lustrous .364 in a 21-hit St. Louis victory over Pittsburgh, 13-5.

That's a far cry for a kid who reported to the wrong camp in Florida this spring and who wasn't even on the Cardinal roster until the season began. But, to mix a celestial metaphor, Moon seems destined to become a star. He proved that when in his first time at bat in an exhibition game with the Yanks at St. Petersburg, he blasted a homer. He demonstrated it again when he homered in his first official time at bat as a major leaguer on opening day. Wednesday's round-tripper was his fourth. Yet he might still be with a Cardinal farm club had he reported to Daytona Beach this spring instead of to the Eddie Stanky rookie base at Deland, Fla., for kids even less experienced than he was. Stanky saw him and couldn't keep his eyes off. He's been a hot-shot ever since.

Red Schoendienst shared the hitting honors with Moon with a double and three singles and each batted in four runs.

One-Hitter

But in Brooklyn and New York there was no evidence that Peter Rabbit instead of Warren C. Giles was autographing the official N.L. ball. Lew Burdette missed a no-hitter for Milwaukee by just one pitch—a fat one to Gil Hodges—who slugged it for a home run, the Dodgers' only hit in a 5-1 defeat. The Giants made only three hits against Cincinnati but one was a two-run ninth inning homer by pinch-swinger Bobby Hofman for both runs in a 2-1 defeat of lefty Harry Perkowski. At Philadelphia, the Phils took a grip on first place by beating the Cubs, 5-4.

There were many silent bats in the American league, too. Don Johnson pitched a two-hit 1-0 victory for Chicago over Boston as Tom Brewer gave up only three hits. Ted Gray pitched a six-hitter as Detroit edged Washington 4-2 while the Yankees took the odd game from Cleveland 5-4.

Burdette, taming the Dodgers in an hour and 51 minutes for the fastest NL game this season was backed up by early homers, Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock each reaching starter Don Newcombe for long range blasts as Milwaukee made 11 hits. It was the Braves' second in a row over Brooklyn.

Simmons' Fourth Win

Southpaw Curt Simmons gained his fourth victory in the Phillies' victory, striking out Ralph Kiner with two out and the tying and winning runs on base in the ninth inning.

Losers Brewer pitched 6 1-3 innings without a hit for Boston but walked four batters to force in the only Chicago run in the first inning. It was Johnson's third victory and his second two-hit effort.

Johnny Sain struck out pinch-hitter Bill Glynn to end a four-run Cleveland rally in the eighth, then struck out two more in the ninth to save Ed Lopat's fifth Yankee victory without a loss. A two-run homer by Andy Carey proved to be the margin of victory.

Ray Boone's three-run homer provided Gray with his necessary margin in Detroit's which kept the Tigers in first place.

Wednesday's Star: Wally Moon, who had a homer and four singles and drove in four runs in the 13-5 Cardinal victory over Pittsburgh.

Indians Option Luke Easter To Ottawa Club

Probably End of Major League Career For Famed Slugger

By United Press

Luke Easter, whose prodigious power at the plate was the Cleveland Indians' perennial No. 1 hope for a pennant, probably reached the end of a heart-breaking career today when he was optioned to Ottawa in the International League.

The 6-foot, 4-inch, 235-pound slugger can be recalled by the Indians on a 24-hour notice but such a move was regarded as unlikely with Al Rosen permanently installed at Luke's old first base post. Easter made only one hit in six at bats this season for a .167 average.

Easter's return to the minor leagues was the biggest surprise as the big league clubs maneuvered to reduce their rosters to the 25-player limit before the midnight deadline Wednesday night. The Indians also sold outfielder Jim Lemon to the Washington Senators and optioned four other players—pitchers Jose Santiago and Dave Hoskins to Indianapolis, pitcher Bill Wight to San Diego and infielder Jim Dyck to Richmond.

Hobbled By Injuries

Easter, 33, was one of the most feared sluggers in the American League but was hobbled by a series of injuries to his ankles and knees which robbed him of stardom. He had his best year in 1950 as a rookie, hitting 28 homers and driving in 107 runs with a .280 batting mark to win acclaim as one of the coming stars of the league.

Luke approximated his rookie campaign in 1951—27 homers and 103 runs batted in—but underwent surgery on his right knee during the winter and was hobbled during the entire season. He never fully recovered from that injury and wore various braces during the 1952 and 1953 seasons.

His five-year record shows 93 homers, 340 runs batted in and a .274 mark.

The Brooklyn Dodgers reached their 25-player limit by optioning rookie outfielder Sandy Amoros to Montreal in the International League, which he led in batting with a .353 average last season. Amoros hit .400 to lead the Dodgers in spring training but was hitting .138 for the regular season. Manager Walt Alston also said Amoros had a weak throwing arm.

Yanks Option Pitchers

The New York Yankees optioned three pitchers—Bill Miller to Toronto, Bob Wiesler to Kansas City and Art Schallack to Oakland while the Philadelphia Phillies optioned pitcher Ron Mrozinski to Syracuse in the I.L.

The Detroit Tigers and Pittsburgh Pirates had a little more difficulty before getting their rosters to the legal limit. The Tigers placed Steve Souchock on the disabled list, optioned pitcher Dick Weik to Little Rock and Dick Donovan to Atlanta in the Southern Association. The Pirates optioned Gail Henley, Bill Hall and Nelson King to New Orleans and Al Grunwald to Waco.

Although the "legal limit" is 25 players, most clubs actually are carrying 26 or 27 players because returning servicemen do not count on their rosters until a year after their return.

Looking AT Sports

Harrisburg's Bob Beal, district shot put winner, and Eldorado's two relay teams earned the right to participate in the state track and field championships this week end—preliminaries Friday and championship events Saturday.

Eldorado's 880-yard relay team took first in the district and the mile relay team was second, trailing Mt. Vernon. Members of the 880 team are Acie Gwaltney, sophomore, Johnny Dodd, junior, Lloyd Ford and Ron McRoy, seniors. Gwaltney, Dodd and McRoy also run on the mile team, with Sutton, a junior, the fourth man, replacing Ford.

LaGrange, winner of the state track title in 1952 and 1953, will attempt this week end to become the third team in history to win three consecutive state championships. University High of Chicago won the title in 1909-10-11 and Oak Park took top honors in 1930-31 and 32.

LaGrange and Oak Park are the only two schools to ever win consecutive championships more than once. Oak Park was the winner 1907-08, 1919-20, 1923-24, 1930-31-32 and 1937-38. LaGrange won in 1952-53 and 1948-49 and took the Class B title in 1914-15, when entrants were divided into two divisions.

It has been a long time since a southern Illinois school was a title winner. Way back in 1925 Eldorado shared the state crown with Danville, each scoring 17 points.

Sulphur Springs

Several from the Sulphur Springs church attended the baptizing at the Bethel church Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. K. Church met their daughter, Ruby, Detroit, Mich., Sunday at the early morning train in Eldorado. She came home to spend Mothers' Day. Sunday afternoon they all attended the good singing led by Bro. Lovall Hess, at the Presbyterian church.

Mr. and Mrs. William Haney visited with Mr. and Mrs. K. Church Monday night.

So many people are having to repent because of the unwelcomed frost. The next big singing will be held at the Big Saline church in July. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haney and baby, Ruthie, visited Mr. and Mrs. William Haney, on Mothers' Day. Sunday school was well attended Sunday.

THE STORY: Nervous and fearful of not pleasing her new mother-in-law, Lenny, young bride of Tom Dahlstrom, drops and breaks a plate, a precious possession of Tom's mother. Already Lenny has sensed that Mrs. Dahlstrom is disappointed because Tom did not marry Astrid Nelson.

V

Then a surer knowledge crossed Elaine's mind, bringing back all her misery and fear in triplicate. Even when love is not the question, a woman scorned is apt to hate anyone who reminds her of the scolding.

Tom Dahlstrom had scorned Astrid Nelson and Astrid would be here tonight. Clutching the sink behind her for support, Elaine watched Tom sweep up the broken dish at her feet and empty the dustpan full of fragments into the wastebasket behind the stove.

Did Tom think her careless and inept? The placid expression on Tom's face told her nothing. She tried to smile at him when he put aside the broom and turned his eyes on her. Her lips quivered with the effort. Her eyes began to burn.

Putting his arm around her tenderly, Tom held her close for a moment. "Don't worry about a broken dish, Lenny," he breathed into her soft curls. "Ma couldn't help feeling bad. But she knows it was an accident. Why, I remember once when I was a youngster I broke a whole stack of dishes. I was scared stiff that Ma would whale the tar out of me. You know what she did?" The soft flame kindled by pleasant memories shone in his eyes. "She patted my head and said, 'Nobody ever breaks dishes on purpose!'"

"But it was a plate your father gave her!"

"She has other things he gave her," Tom shook her gently. "You run upstairs, take a bath and get dressed. I'll finish cleaning up." He sighed and complained, "I don't know why Ma had to invite company our first night home."

Easing away from him, Elaine couldn't help stating what was altogether too obvious. "Your mother didn't know when she invited the company, that you'd be bringing me home."

"Guess you're right," he answered agreeably, and plunged his large hands into the dishpan.

"I suppose you'll be pretty glad to see Astrid, won't you?" The question was out before Elaine could stop it. She studied Tom's profile with a suspicion she knew was unworthy, but she couldn't help that either.

"It's always nice to see old friends," Tom replied, truthfully. "Now you'd better hurry along or you won't be ready for me to show you off when the Nelsons get here."

Elaine stepped into the heavy twilight shadows that filled the dining room. As she moved through the equally murky living room toward the open stairway, she had the feeling that she would long continue to grope her way through the life on this farm just as she was groping her way through the house itself.

Even before she found the light switch by the door, the room at the head of the stairs seemed to surround her with a sense of security. She sighed and sat down on the edge of the massive walnut bed. Here Tom and she could be alone, away from the cold, enigmatical eyes of Mrs. Dahlstrom and the curious eyes of others who couldn't help but wonder what Tom saw in her when Astrid was available. Elaine wanted to stay here in this room until tomorrow morning.

The wish transmuted itself to her muscles and she dallied in the bathroom until Tom bounded up the stairs and into the room. Knocking on the door, he demanded, "Aren't you ready yet? I'm next, you know."

"Okay, I'm ready." When she emerged in her terry cloth robe, with a towel wrapped around her hair, he surveyed her

Time to Return

To War, S. Korean President Rhee Says

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — President Syngman Rhee said today the time has come to go back to war.

"To wait longer — to talk and talk and talk — is to give the Communists time to overtake us militarily and eventually try to destroy us," Rhee said in answer to United Press questions on South Korea's views of the Geneva conference.

Rhee said the West should admit efforts to negotiate peace with the Communists at the conference table have failed.

"But we must be sure that the free world is finally and completely convinced that conferences profit only the enemy and that Geneva must be the last," Rhee said.

The South Korean President said the conferences with the Communists at Panmunjom, Berlin and Geneva had awakened the American public "to the profound danger of Red expansion" although America has not fully "realized its peril."

"I'm afraid another Pearl Harbor is imminent," Rhee said.

April Sales Tax Collections Drop

SPRINGFIELD — The State Revenue Department today reported April sales tax collections dropped more than one million dollars from collections for April, 1953.

The sales tax produced $16,485,980 in April, $1,033,572 less than in the same month a year ago. April collections are based on March sales. For the first four months of 1954, collections are running some three million dollars behind 1953.

Collections from the state's six main sources of revenue were off only $86,320 from the previous year in April. Four of the tax sources showed increases for the month, two declines.

In addition to the sales tax revenue drop, liquor taxes declined slightly, from $2,098,902 in 1953 to $2,080,990 last month.

Motor fuel taxes accounted for the biggest increase, going from $10,383,174 in April, 1953, to $10,948,037 last month.

Public utilities tax, cigarette tax and petroleum inspection fees revenues also went up.

SIU Fraternity Group Completes 50-Mile Horseback Trip of Area

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A group of saddle-weary Southern Illinois university students, all members of Alpha Phi Omega (SIU Boy Scout service fraternity), returned to classes this week after completing a three-day 50-mile horseback trip along part of a proposed southern Illinois hiking trail.

SIU President D. W. Morris joined the group for the third day's ride. Shawnee National Forest officials and SIU are co-operating in planning the proposed trail in the scenic mountainous region extending across the state from the Mississippi to the Ohio river.

Traversing some of the region's most scenic areas the "explorers" followed a rural and county roads from Goreville, 23 miles south of Marion, to Pounds Hollow in southern Gallatin county. Overnight camps were established in the open at Bell Smith Springs and near Herod in the vicinity of Williams Hill, highest peak in southern Illinois. They rode nearly 25 miles the first day, 15 the second, and 10 the third.

Chow for the traveling group and feed for the horses was trucked to overnight stopping places. During the day the group cooked over open camp fires morning and evening.

Twelve APO members with two accompanying SIU staff members — William Rogge, supervisor of men's residence halls and APO faculty sponsor, and Irvin Peithman, member of the SIU Museum staff — light heartedly mounted horses at Goreville Friday morning, May 7, and stiffly dismounted at Bell Smith Springs 25 miles east that evening.

Starting the jaunt were: James Jenkins, Charles Pritchard, and James Miller, Kankakee; Emil Spees, Rosiclare; Dale Joe Prediger, Lenzburg; John Hayman, Assumption; Thomas Bahr, Highland Park; Carl Strickland, Beecher Park; Jack Cahoon, Wood River; Wallace Draper, Cobden; and Joe Smoltz, Jr., Edwardsville, Rogge and Paul Morris, Venice, APO president, were in charge of the expedition.

Cahoon, Smoltz and Draper had to drop out at the end of the first day but others replaced them to keep the riding party at full strength. Charles Van Cleve, Olney; Jack Turner, Kankakee; and James Gillihan, Mt. Carmel, joined the group Friday night at Bell Smith Springs for the remaining two days. SIU President D. W. Morris and Ronald Pemberton, student from Springfield, were added at Herod for the final day's ride.

Fort Massac State Park Heads List Of Suggested Trips to Illinois Areas

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — For short or long spring vacations Illinois affords motorists a wide variety of scenic grandeur ranging from the cotton and tobacco fields in the extreme southern counties to the majestic palisades overlooking the Mississippi river in the northern area.

In connection with the "See Illinois Now" program sponsored by four State Departments, Governor William G. Stratton today urged residents of the state to take the "time now to learn more about the great Prairie State in which we live."

"Illinois is a land of many contrasts," Governor Stratton said. "Our great state affords a long range of scenic beauty from the Ohio river valley northward to the Wisconsin state line. Our state park system is one of the finest in the nation."

The program to encourage residents of the state to see more of their native land is sponsored jointly by the Division of Reports, Department of Finance; Division of Parks and Memorials; Department of Public Works and Buildings and Department of Public Safety.

Each week during the program a different group of state parks will be publicized in the interests of suggesting vacation trips for residents in various sections of the state. It is up to the individual to determine the length of each trip since some would require more than one day to complete.

This week Fort Massac State Park located on the Ohio river in Massac county near the city of Metropolis on U. S. Route 45 heads the list of suggested trips. Other suggestions for travel this week include: Spitler Woods State Park in Macon county, southeast of Decatur on State Route 121; Nauvoo State Park in Hancock county, 20 miles north and west of Carthage; Jubilee College State Park in Peoria county, northwest of Peoria on U. S. Route 150; and Illinois Beach State Park in Lake County between Waukegan and Zion on State Route 42.

Brief descriptions of the state parks listed follow:

FORT MASSAC STATE PARK in Massac county: A view of 24 miles of the Ohio river is one of the many attractions afforded visitors to this area which was established as a state park in 1908. The site was fortified by the French in 1757 shortly after the outbreak of the French and Indian War. A statue of George Rogers Clark looking out across the Ohio river is located at the river edge. Both the French and English occupied the site before it became part of the United States.

SPITLER WOODS STATE PARK in Macon county: This is considered to be one of the most beautiful areas of towering trees and shaded ravines to be found anywhere in the middle west. The land was given to the state with the stipulation that its natural beauties be disturbed as little as possible.

NAUVOO STATE PARK in Hancock county: This is one of the newer units of the Illinois State Park system and is located within the city limits of the town of Nauvoo on the Mississippi river. The area is noted for its cheese and wine making and some of the vineyards established by early settlers are in the park.

JUBILEE COLLEGE STATE PARK in Peoria county: A building of one of the earliest educational institutions to be established in Illinois is preserved in this park. The college was founded in 1847 by Reverend Philander Chase, first Bishop of the Episcopal church in Illinois. The college fell into financial difficulties and was abandoned during the Civil War. College buildings erected more than 100 years ago remain in a remarkable state of preservation as an attraction to motorists.

ILLINOIS BEACH STATE PARK in Lake county: Featuring a sandy beach which stretches more than three miles along Lake Michigan this park is in the process of development into one of the finest in the world. The area is easily accessible to more than half of the population of the state. It is being developed into ten separate sections, each with its own beach house and other facilities. The first of these sections has been completed.

Edward Whymper was the first man to reach the top of the Matterhorn, accomplishing the feat in 1865.

Edwin Stanton, Lincoln's Secretary of War, was appointed to the Supreme Court, but died four days after the appointment.

SEE ILLINOIS NOW. Visit your scenic and historic ILLINOIS STATE PARKS and MEMORIALS. 1. Near Peoria is Jubilee College, one of the state's first educational institutions. 2. Illinois Beach, Lake County, features a sandy beach that stretches more than three miles along Lake Michigan. 3. Spitler Woods, Macon County, is a beautiful area of towering trees and shaded ravines. 4. Within the city limits of Nauvoo, once the largest city in Illinois, is Nauvoo State Park. 5. Fort Massac, in Massac County, is the site fortified by the French in 1757 shortly after the outbreak of the French and Indian War.

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★

U. S. Policy on Indochina Is Stumping Foreign Viewers

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Foreign diplomats in Washington have been complaining that they find it difficult to determine just what is America's policy on Indo-China. In little more than the past month there have been seven conflicting or contradictory statements on Indo-China policy.

1. The original position, going back to the Truman administration days, was that the French and Viet Namese would be given all aid necessary, short of the use of American troops, at the front. That still holds. The Eisenhower administration is spending $400 million on aid to Indo-China this year and has asked for more than twice that amount for next year.

2. BUT ON March 29, before the Overseas Press Club in New York, Secretary Dulles declared that, "the imposition on southeast Asia of the political system of Communist Russia and its Communist ally, should not be passively accepted, but should be met by united action."

3. Secretary Dulles amplified this on his mid-April trip to London and Paris. Communiques issued after conferences with Foreign Ministers Anthony Eden and Georges Bidault declared America, Britain and France were examining "the possibility of establishing within the framework of the United Nations Charter, a collective defense to assume the peace, security and freedom of this area."

But the secretary declared on his return that he thought it "unlikely" the United States would have to send troops to Indo-China.

4. This seemed to be changed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon's answer to a question at the American Society of Newspaper Editors meeting in Washington. If the French pulled out of Indo-China, the vice president said, he hoped the United States would not have to send troops. But if this government could not avoid it, the Administration would have to face up to the situation and dispatch forces.

5. THE SHOWDOWN on this came just before the Geneva conference.

ference opened, when France asked America and Britain for direct military intervention in Indo-China. British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill said "his government would give no military assistance in Indo-China, pending the outcome of the Geneva conference. This made it impossible for the United States to push the formation of a southeast Asia Treaty Organization—SEATO—and the policy had to be shifted again.

6. President Eisenhower has declared consistently that there would be no involvement of America in war unless it was declared by Congress through constitutional processes.

7. When Britain and then the United States turned down the French request for immediate military assistance, it left France's Foreign Minister Bidault no alternative but to seek a negotiated peace with Indo-China at Geneva.

THE FINAL LINK in the American foreign policy daisy chain on Indo-China was forged by President Eisenhower himself, supporting this French policy. In his U. S. Chamber of Commerce speech, he put the emphasis on his hope for a peaceful settlement of the Indo-China war at Geneva.

In a recent speech at Des Moines, Vice President Nixon criticized the Truman administration foreign policy as "characterized" by weakness, inconsistency, compromise of principle at the conference table and abandonment of our friends.

The Eisenhower administration policy, he said, was based on strength, firmness, consistency and non-surrender of principle at the conference table.

The vice president also criticized the Truman administration for saying in January, 1950, that "Korea and Formosa were outside the defense zone of the United States."

One pointed question now being asked in Washington is how this differs from present statements, in Congress and everywhere else, informing the Communists openly that the United States will not go to war in Indo-China as it, also, is outside the U. S. defense perimeter.

14-Year-Old HTHS Freshman Kills Fox At Father's Farm With a Bow and Arrow

By ALTA PORTER
Freddie Lamkin, 14-year-old freshman at the Harrisburg Township high school, may not be too practiced yet at wolf calls, but he is "dead eye Freddie" with a bow and arrow, when it comes to killing a fox.

Out at the Hereford cattle farm owned by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lamkin, in New Hope community, Harrisburg RFD 4, the foxes are "tame as dogs," and a menace to the poultry, mallard ducks, and young animals about the place.

One evening when Mr. Lamkin went to the barn to tend the cattle, a fox was in the barn. To shoot the fox with a shotgun would have endangered the cows. Mr. Lamkin told Freddie to get his bow, with its sharp metal pointed arrow, which he did, took aim and shot the fox — just like that!

Later a litter of eleven young foxes were found in a drainage ditch tile in this neighborhood, where foxes have hibernated in the large ditch tile during the past two years of drought and have raised large families.

So numerous are the foxes in this district, that some of the farmers have quit trying to raise chickens. The only good that they do is that anyone knows about, is that they do kill mice and rats, but not if a tasty young fryer is about.

One of their peculiarities is that they love the smell of newly turned earth, either that or curiosity will lead them to follow a tractor all around a field that is being plowed. Mr. Lamkin said. Most of them are red but a few gray foxes are also around.

Alfred Johnson, a neighboring cattle raiser, remarked, "They are tame as dogs, and the country is overrun with them."

Some organized hunts have been held, but experience teaches the hunters that if they go near the den, the foxes move out the minute they can do so without being killed or caught.

Mr. Lamkin said that if you pass a den of young ones, the mother fox moves them next day. The mother has all of the responsibility for the young, because foxes are like dogs — the male is a rickle fellow and is occupied with the pursuit of another "girl friend."

Should the den be in a place that would become flooded, the mother fox tosses her babies out to higher ground, then finds a dry shelter to which she moves them later. Mange kills off many of them. When they become infested they try to get near to barns and farm houses, probably to get warm, Mr. Lamkin said.

Silence is Golden

NORWICH, Conn. — The more Chester Sproski talked, the more he got into trouble. First, he was picked up on a charge of evading responsibility after a traffic accident. He explained that his brakes were bad, so he was charged with driving with defective equipment. He argued about it and got slapped with a resisting-arrest charge. Then he said it was all a big mistake, his brakes weren't bad at all. "I was just plain drunk," he said. The final charge was drunk driving.
